Vases or Canteen on 2-Axis

Aage gave a demo on canteen/2-axis vases.

He drilled the center out and used the 4-jaw chuck in expansion mode for 1 axis and a tenon for the other. Be sure to hollow around the handle tabs. Tenons were cut for drilling the neck or cut it in half to hollow out the insides, then glue it back together (lots of clamps). Hide the seams with burnings or inlays.

OR for another way that Aage tried: Drill out the top with a Morse taper drill bit. Grain runs the length of the blank. Drill out the center with a big Forester bit (big enough for the chuck). Drill from both sides. Turn the top, turn the base. Taper the body. Rechuck & open the hole on the front. Clean up the front. Leave some heft on the foot to keep cats from dumping it over. Hollow the inside until the neck hole shows in middle of piece. Reverse chuck, flatten the end, hollow out the other side. Taper the surface concave or convex. Cut a recess 1/8" in the outside hole for a plug on both sides (helps the canteen hold water). Shape plugs so it blends into the body.

On the web you can find more on Johannes Rieber's canteens and hopefully more detailed instructions. Rieber.org/wood/picture\_galleries/sider/making\_a\_canteen.html

Shows Coming Out Of VA:

Nov 1-3, NC woodturning Symposium, Greensboro, NC.

May 15-17, 2014: Utah Symposium

Shows Coming In VA:

Pen Turners Sept 2013: Shawna gave a demo of pen tube painting. She uses acrylic Liquitex from AC Moore. White tubes not good for molding acrylic. Mix let sit for the bubbles to reach the top. Pour slowly, no need for vacuum or pressure. Buying resin for Wood Whysism. Color brass tubes with base color first, let dry. No sanding of tubes. Dilute paint so it flows, brush on at angle. Mix in a little white –sticks better. Sky first, grass, let dry. Then birds, trees, foreground things. We all got a tube to paint & painting stations were set-up for us. Mine has fingerprints all over it- think I will try again. Next meeting October Baseball bat pens .

Check out the AAW magazine for Bruce's article on the Pen Turners Gathering

Safety First,

Breath Clean Air

AAW nomination for free scholarship to either JC Campbell or Arrowmont in 2014. Club selected Aage

FOR SALE, BUY, or TRADE

Ray Deyo offers a 10% discount on non-power tools and supplies on meeting nights at Woodcraft for members with current cards only. Another very good reason to join us every month!

We lost a dear friend to ourselves as individuals and the turning world in general this week. Phil English, a long term member of the turning club passed away while on a bike ride (pedal) . Phil loved his daily rides traveling as many as 15-20 miles at a time and participated in endurance trips around the country. We were certainly exposed to one of the better turners by knowing him and will feel his loss in the future
